Health day

We invite you on Wednesday, February 21, 2024, to UK Point in Celetná Street No. 13 for Health Day!

You can look forward to the opportunity to have your blood sugar, total cholesterol level in the blood measured, as well as be educated in the field of diabetes and high cholesterol, and learn about the dangers it brings. You can also have your blood type determined and last but not least, you will also learn on prevention in the field of breast and male genital cancer with practical self-examination exercises on models. These examinations and instructions will be carried out by IFMSA doctors.

IFMSA Czech Republic is an interfaculty association uniting medical students from all eight medical faculties. The goal of this organization is to develop the abilities of medical students so that they come into practice better prepared. One of the important activities is educating the public on the issues of diabetes, high blood pressure, overweight, the issue of donating blood, and education in the area of breast, prostate and testicular cancers.

The event will take place from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

All examinations are free!

We believe that you will come in large numbers to take advantage of this unique health prevention event!
